Kalamazoo, College Kalamazoo, Michigan

Bubbling over,

Steaming hot-

Our Indian name

Holds likely as not:

Kalamazoo

Is a Boiling Pot,

Where simmering waters

Slowly rise,

Then nearly burst

The cauldron's sides;

And where, after all,

The aim and dream

Is sending the lukewarm

Up in steam.

M. K.

Bubbling, all in a turmoil, unquestionably alive, the Kalamazoo College program in the academic year 1963-64 has resembled nothing so much as a great cauldron of simmering water coming to a rolling boil. Much of the credit for this new energy and activity belongs to President Weimer K. Hicks, to whom, in this tenth year of his association with the College, this edition of the Boiling Pot is dedicated.

Summer

The first summer quarter lived up to Dean Hightower's opening chapel statement that it would be one of academic challenge, just like the others. There were a few differences—classes beginning at 7:00 instead of 8:00 and water fights instead of traying on chapel hill. Construction, warm weather, and wishful thinking about lakeside vacations of days past occupied conversational time slots usually reserved for chapel points and dress regulations. Concerts, foreign study orientation, mixers, talk, and study filled evenings. It was just another quarter—almost.

New Student Days

"Into the valley of death rode the 600 . . ."

"But I don't want linen service."

Freshman Days dawned and 304 new Frosh descended on the campus for a whirl of unpacking, counselling, meeting people—and faculty members—, discussing, and recreating. The return of the upperclassmen brought registration, classes, and hazing, the bane of the freshman's existence. But Homecoming ended the introduction, and as the pots blazed in the bonfire, the Frosh were finally accepted wholeheartedly as "real people."

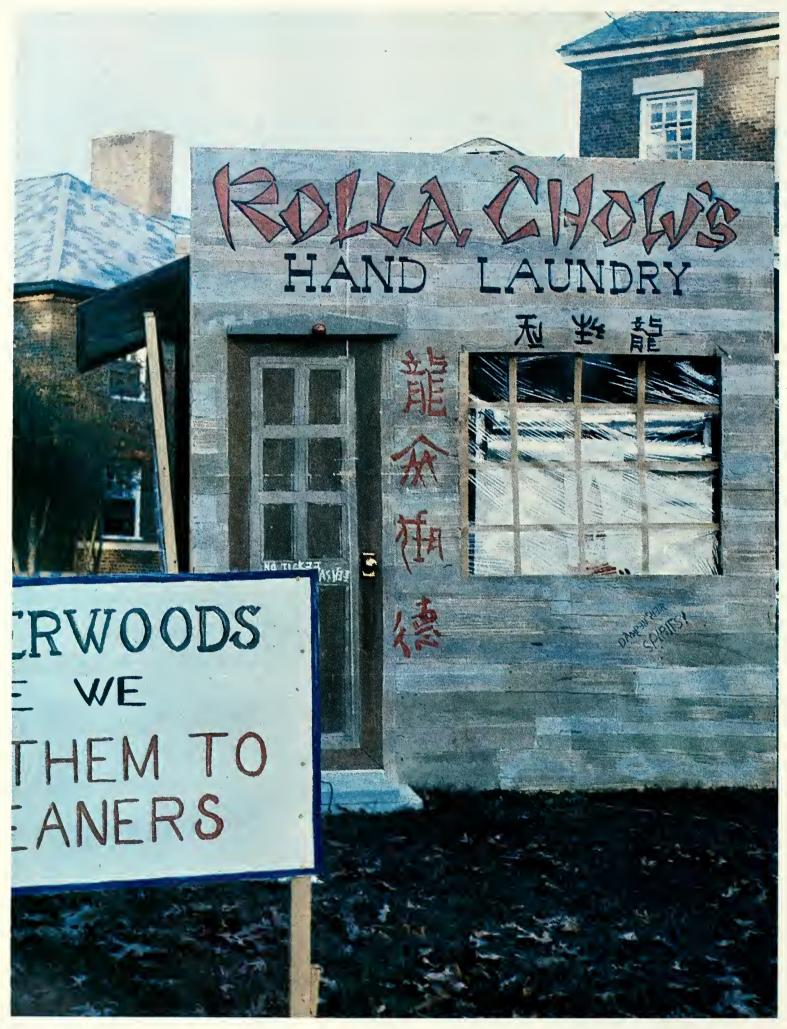

"Hey, did you girls know it's after quiet hours?"

"If the girls were all off-campus . . ."

"This thing'll never fall down." The Frosh spoke too soon.

"Are you sure you want to go through with this?"

"Does he, or doesn't he?"

"I've heard of small college bands, but this is ridiculous!"

Homecoming Weekend—bonfire, displays, football, dance, the return of the alums—reigned over by Queen Karen Dietz and her court. The weather, in contrast to the preceding year, satisfied all hopes. A Buddha, Chinese junk, and jinrikisha brought out the Far Eastern theme, and Genghis Khan menaced the alums who strolled by Bowen Hall. Highlight of the weekend: football victory over Olivet.

22 points a term, for what seems like an endless number of terms. Chapels run the gamut, from sleep inducers to the best imaginable—the kind of thing that provokes those long discussions in Welles parlor. The ideas were good and we discovered after the long affair was over that required chapel wasn't so bad after all.

Freshmen learned who the Seniors were, and Seniors learned that one couldn't sleep in the front row; lo and behold, the speakers did have something to say after all.

What can we say? The usual mob at the usual building.

10th Anniversary

PRESIDENT AND MRS. WEIMER KERR HICKS

On January 11th, students, faculty, alumni, and friends of the College gathered to honor Dr. and Mrs. Weimer K. Hicks on their 10th Anniversary with Kalamazoo College. Throughout the country, from Los Angeles to New York City, at ten gathering places, alumni clubs joined in the festivities at Kalamazoo through closed-circuit television.

FROM THE BANQUET SPEECHES:

Dr. Richard U. Light, on behalf of the Board of Trustees:

"It is ten years, almost to the day, since the 12th President took office . . . As we look back over the ten years of his administration we look upon a succession of events which transformed the College from the traditional American institution which quietly closed its doors early in June and reopened them late in September into an efficient space-saving, time-saving, wide-awake enterprise which, like a successful business, keeps its expensive facilities in use on a year-round basis . . . But to speak of Weimer Hicks is to give only one-half of the story. The tribute tonight is dedicated in equal part to his wonderful wife, Jean . . . No college has ever had a more charming, more dependable or more popular woman in the presidential office than Jean Hicks."

Dr. Walter Waring, on behalf of the Faculty:

"The individuality of our esteem for our president illustrates the singular role he has played at Kalamazoo College during his tenure . . . His concern for the economic and educational vitality of the college lies in his line of duty, but the relationship that he has maintained with his faculty goes far beyond his call of duty and touches each of us personally . . President Hicks is fully aware of the fact that to be great, a college must have a fine library, suitable classrooms, halls and dormitories, a student body that can be taught, and a faculty that can teach; but he also knows that these things alone do not make a college excell. My every contact with President Hicks has impressed me with his restless desire to provide Kalamazoo College with the one element that cannot be reducd to statistical accounting. That element has been called spirit, uniqueness, community of scholarship, desire for excellence, self-evaluation, and a great many other things."

Mr. Gene Tidrick, on behalf of the Student Body:

"I think that President Hicks will long be remembered by most of the students of this college as the president who knows nearly every student by his first name, as a president whose office door is open at all times to every student. Certainly, we are grateful for all that President Hicks has done to make education at Kalamazoo one of the best that can be obtained in the country and to make a degree from Kalamazoo College one of the most respected in the country. But we also esteem Dr. Hicks, I think more than for any other reason, for the keen interest he takes in the problems of each individual student. So, on behalf of the student body, Dr. Hicks, may I say that we sincerely hope that the next decade will be as productive as the last ten years have been."

"Ten years from now we are going to present him with the moon!" comments Dr. Raymond L. Hightower, Dean of the Faculty.

Mr. Gene Tidrick, Student Senate President, speaks on behalf of the student body.

Dorm Life

Dorm life—where everything is community property from the screaming trip to the cold shower when there is a pinning to pre-exam cramming. No matter which night it is, someone else is also up reading the last hundred pages or typing his paper. Receiving letters, brushing teeth, even getting up in the morning are shared activities as the dormie stands in line at the mail box or the sink or hears the alarms ring up and down the hall. A unique time—a time of close companionship—an experience never to be repeated—living in a dorm.

A townie leads a double life. He is a full-time student and at the same time he actively participates in a family and community life. While being a townie may put one at a social disadvantage, there are compensations. Families provide laundry service, a car, and a well-stocked refrigerator. K provides—well, the snack bar and the townie lounge.

Combining two lives, that of student and that of husband or wife and mother or father isn't always the easiest, but married students joke about eating "peanut butter souffle" and "glop" and dream of an extra room to study in or even an extra closet shelf and find a dual satisfaction in rising to the challenge. For they appreciate their studies and also their family life and the certain sense of freedom in being on their own.

Bach Festival

Under the direction of Dr. Russell Hammar, the eighteenth annual Bach Festival came to campus March 6, 7, and 8 bringing with it guests and artists from all over the country.

Friday evening's opening concert featured the Bach Festival Orchestra and Chorus, with Professor Voldemars Rushevics as concertmaster, performing three works: the second of the six Brandenberg Concertos; Cantata No. 180, "Beautify Thyself, My Spirit," and Phoebus and Pan, a musical drama. The College Concert Choir presented one number, Motet No. 6 "Praise the Lord, All Heathens."

One of the great dramatic works of sacred music—The Passion According to St. Matthew—comprised the entire program on Saturday. Guest artists aided the Festival Chorus and Orchestra in the performance of the work: Maud Nosler, soprano from Barrington, Illinois; Kay C. Graves, bass-baritone from Chicago; Lillian Knowles, contralto from Philadelphia; Robert Johnson, tenor from Chicago; and Bruce Foote, baritone from University of Illinois. St. Luke's boy choristors, under the direction of George Tucker, also performed. Of the St. Matthew Passion, Andre Pirro, a prominent biographer of Bach, has written that here the composer "unfolds with incredible vigor the material of the Scriptures, embroidered with tears, painted in diverse hues, now somber, now lurid, the coloring of flames and blood."

Closing the Festival on Sunday was the traditional chamber music program. William Corbet Jones, a young pianist from San Francisco who has won high critical praise, highlighted the afternoon's concert. He opened the program with Partita No. 4 in D major. On the Concerto for Two Cembalos in C Major, Harry B. Ray of the music faculty and the Bach Festival Chamber Orchestra assisted the featured pianist. The newly-formed Kalamazoo Aria Group then performed Cantata No. 122, "Unto the World this Happy Morn." The concert, and the year's Bach Festival, concluded with the keyboard Concerto in D Minor, played by Jones with the Chamber Orchestra.

Would someone please show Dr. Start where we are.

Someone From Assisi

The Winter production promised an original change from the completeness expressed in a single play. The series of one-acts provided the audience a new view of Wilder as well as, for the Freshmen, their first chance to see an arena production at Kalamazoo. The variety of plays gave many well-known "K" actors the opportunity to be on the stage again. The trilogy, held together through staging and theme, was truly a highlight of the Winter term.

The 1964 Model Republican Convention on April II was the eighth consecutive model convention sponsored by the Student Senate. About 650 delegates attended— almost half of them Kalamazoo College students, the others students from some forty high schools in the Kalamazoo area. Excitement rose steadily as the convention business proceeded: keynote address by Congressman Robert Ellsworth of Kansas; committee reports—here a stronger civil rights plank was voted into the platform—; and finally, nominations for the Presidency. Deafening parades and demonstrations, continuous persuading, promising, and politicking among the delegates all led toward the evening's climax. Finally, it was Henry Cabot Lodge narrowly elected the Presidential nominee and William Scranton, his close contender, given the Vice-Presidential nomination. Through all the fun, watching the mechanics of the convention and getting wound up in its politics, each delegate learned something about the working of the party system.

So I said he could have a piggy-back ride if he'd give his vote to us.

For the first time in years Saturday of Greek Weekend dawned bright and clear, heightening the festive mood set by the banquet the night before. President Weimer Kerr Hicks

As Diverse as His College

President Hicks is noted among the student body primarily as the man on campus who knows every-body's name. His conversations with students are always full of interest in the student, his problems, and his aims. Of few other College Presidents can it be said that he keeps a close watch on the growth and development of each member of the Student Body.

The role which Dr. Hicks fulfills goes far beyond that of interested friend to students on campus. He appears before the Student Body as academic leader in cap and gown. His home and family occupy much of his time and as familiar to the student as the President himself. Much of the time President Hicks is not on campus but working in areas all over the country to improve the quality of Kalamazoo College through endowment, idea exchange, and broadening the scope of Kalamazoo's influence throughout the world.

English: Familiar Face in a New Setting

The English Department is one of the most stimulating departments on campus. For English majors interested in non-American or classical literature, the foreign study quarter provides a time and a place for on the spot research. Those who prefer concentrating on the contemporary can work on campus with experts in the field. But the stimulation underlying the courses comes mostly from individualized projects and from the forceful personalities of the English professors who develop the atmosphere of exuberant learning that can be both gratifying and intensely personal.

Exciting, Romantic, Impossible French

Imaginative courses in French literature, following intensive training in basic grammar and conversation, encourage many students to continue with French even though they are not language majors. For the French major, however, the department soon takes on a glow all its own which is heightened not only by study abroad, but also by the faculty, who add a romantic touch of France to classes even when the student is on campus.

The reputation that has been made by Kalamazoo College as an outstanding school for studies in the sciences is due in part to the Physics department. From beginning chem.-phys. to advanced courses dealing with electronics, optics, and magnetism the department aims to thoroughly acquaint the student with the theoretical and practical aspects of physics.

Committee on Student Affairs

CSA, or Council on Student Affairs, is a group comprised of students, faculty, and administration. Holding meetings usually twice a month, the Council discusses issues of concern to the entire campus. It is a half way point between faculty and students. Some of the issues discussed this past year were: Honor System, campus social life, faculty-student administration rapport, society rooms, and interpersonnel relations.

Senate

Like student governments everywhere, this year's Senate wrestled with such perennials as "The Constitution" ("What do you mean, we're a representative government?"), served meals, and who gets how much for what.

But this year's leadership, perhaps more than any previous one, attempted to avert a preoccupation with ritualistic concerns of this nature. Believing that students had a vital contribution to make to their institution, the Senate worked out new ideas on curriculum and grading, and raised a critical (if misunderstood), voice on the required chapel program. Believing that students had rights as well as responsibilities, the Senate posed a series of guidelines for campus judicial bodies and at long last drafted an Honor System accepted by the campus. Finally, with a new faith in the student's responsibility to his society, the Senate dove into political concerns ranging from the City Commission to America's Georgia, urging the campus to react, express, and take action (usually financial) in response to national, even international events of student concern.

Joint House Council

Men's Joint House Council consists of six elected representatives as voting members, plus the Head Proctor, the appointed treasurer, and the Deans as ex officio members. The Council had an uneventful year. The concession area in Hoben, which it maintains, returned the anticipated profits which were spent on house meetings with movies and free food; excess profits were spent on a new television set for Harmon Lounge.

Women's League

Women's League is a "fourth women's society," the difference between it and the other three being that all women belong. Like the other societies, it strives to unite its own members as well as contribute to campus life.

Women's League attempts to accomplish the first of these two purposes primarily in facing the biggest sources of disunity among the women students. First is the incoming group of freshmen, who inevitably outnumber the girls in any one of the other classes. So the Big-Little Sister program brings together the freshmen and upperclassmen in the fall by arranging for a picnic on the guad and a Big-Little Sister breakfast.

Another group that might tend to find themselves left out are the Townies. Women's League feels they should have the opportunity for a taste of dorm life, so every fall there is a Townie Party in Trowbridge, after which the Townies may "camp" on their dormie classmates for the night.

A third intrasociety function is the support of a foster child. Weekly snack sales contribute to her clothing and education.

The Women's League sponsors Father's Day, and the Mother's Day May-Fete, as well as the Christmas Carol Service. In addition one girl-bid dance is sponsored by Women's League.

Student Union Board

WINTER BOARD MEMBERS: M. Staples, J. Baker, L. Lousin, S. Carl, W. Hartman, J. Emerson.

FALL BOARD MEMBERS: A. Butners, G. Cassel, S. Carol, L. Barrett, B. Benton.

The Student Union Board works in cooperation with the Senate and other campus organizations to initiate and schedule campus functions. It channels suggestions for activities to societies and other groups, sets up the social calendar for each quarter, and helps coordinate activities to vary the campus social program. This year the Board sponsored the art film series and several summer term activities including weekend trips to Lake Michigan, weekday bus trips to Woods Lake and faculty-student picnics.

Intersociety Council

The Intersociety Council is the organization which initiates and coordinates campus-wide activities concerning the societies. It is composed of the Presidents and elected delegates from each society. Two of the I.S.C.'s activities are the Intersociety Sing contest and Greek Weekend.

The Delmega Society, founded in 1961, is the youngest of the College's seven societies. At the present time it holds its functions in a room in the annex behind Hoben Hall, but will move into the new Fine Arts Building when it is completed.

The Society operates on the principle that it exists for the good of its members. Each member is an individual and is allowed to retain his individuality.

Each year the Society holds its annual pizza party after one of the basketball games. This year close to one hundred pizzas were sold.

Century Forum

The year of 1963-'64 was an eventful one for the Century Forum with occasional service projects added to the customary social functions. During the Summer Quarter the Centuries played weekly softball games with boys from the Kalamazoo County Juvenile Detention Home and sponsored the First Annual Century Forum Water Festival at Maple Isle in Paw Paw. The Fall Quarter included homecoming display building, a championship in Intramural football, and the beginning of pledging. During the Winter Quarter pledging was concluded, slaves were again bartered, and the Forum expanded its social horizons. The annual Showboat, a satire lampooning the school, and the traditional dinner dance in the Spring concluded a successful and rewarding year.

As a service project this year, the Euros worked in the Womens receiving of the State Mental Hospital every Wednesday evening. They presented a hootenanny for their enjoyment, played volleyball with them, and joined them in various individual activities.

Thirty-seven pledges joined Euros as Activies after an exciting Hell Night in a rainy cemetery. During the previous week, the "Euphadies" were busy learning actives names, getting eggs signed by Sherwoods, going on a scavenger hunt, and making plans for capturing the president.

The large pledge class, in addition to harassing the actives, presented the Society with a new fight song. "The Case of the Missing Pledge Mistress" baffled WJMD listeners, but failed to warn Pledge Mistresses Dasher and Budlong of their coming fate.

As a service project, Sigs clean up the school for mentally retarded children. They also found that songs can do much to lift the spirits of patients at the Kalamazoo State Mental Hospital.

Sigs can be classified as innovators, for they have brought to the college (at least to Mary T) a new delicacy. In addition to the more traditional Sig Hot Dogs, the society now sells that strangest of foods—not quite roll, not quite doughnut—the bagel!

Phi Lambda

The Philos have had an exciting and active year. Starting a new tradition during the summer with a Water Carnival climaxed by the specially arranged Philo Eclipse, the year was off to a liquid start. Continuing the annual Street Dance in the fall, the Philos also initiated Friday afternoon TGIF's for those requiring a break after a long week. The winter quarter was enlivened by twenty-seven healthy ingenious pledges. The Philo Choir continued to entertain at campus functions and area concerts. With an active membership, the Philos are looking forward to another full year.

"85 Years of Service to the Student" reads the Index's masthead motto, a reminder that the campus newspaper is one of its oldest established institutions. Yet the Index is new too—only within the last ten years has it become an editorially free paper whose independence is not only respected but defended by the Kalamazoo College administration even when the two disagree.

During the last year the Index has not stood on tradition. Its editors have innovated by including news stories on controversial events once ignored, and sought to stimulate discussion by editorializing on campus issues. An effort has been made to provide through the "letters to the editor" column, a forum for any student with informed views to air. Activities of the student government have claimed a place of new importance. The Index has attempted to change, and will continue to change, to meet the changing demands of a growing student body.

"And if you don't want to read it . . . "

"No! No! No! It's the Index not the Appendix.

Annual staffs have continued a tradition over the years. First begun by the Cathode staff in 1896—the annual has served as a permanent record of life at Kalamazoo. Switching from the blocks of solid copy used by the Cathode staff, today's annual relies on photographs to get its message across. In spite of varied format, the subject over the past 68 years has remained the same—you and Kalamazoo. This is the book you turn to hoping to find yourself. Echoing the words of Sue Schroeder in the '62 book—"We hope, having searched, you see yourself in it."

The Kalamazoo College Concert Band continues to be a most active group of musicians, performing at least two concerts a year. Their repertoire is varied; made up of many great orchestral transcripts and works for band.

The now well known "Pep Band," composed of just brass players, has been a feature at all home football games as well as several home basketball games.

Kalamazoo's Debate Team, reactivated this year by Mr. Jackson of the Speech and Drama Department, after several years of inactivity, currently consists of Brent Barrows, Bob Spencer, Bob Steward, and Henry Vidinieks. They have participated in debate tournaments at WMU, Wayne State, Purdue, and the University of Illinois. All of this year's debaters have qualified for Pi Kappa Delta and Mr. Jackson plans to build a larger, more effective team from this experienced squad.

Clubs

The International Clubs are among the most active groups on campus. Before we go abroad and when we return, all of us revel in speaking in our adopted tongue. The various language clubs meet at dinners and attempt to fulfill this desire.

Several exciting visits have been initiated through French Club. In the fall our first male French foreign student arrived in Kalamazoo. His coming was of special interest to the predominantly female French majors. A highlight of the year was the visit of Monsieur Robert Garapon, director of the Caen University's foreign study program. The Monsieur's familiar face was a refreshing reminder to the Caen students of their experiences in France.

Seeming the most intellectual of the groups is the Spanish Club. At the meals many Latin American affairs have been discussed. Some of these programs were: a forum on the Panamanian Crisis, a talk on Ecuador, a talk on the social problems in Colombia, etc.

By far the most active of the language clubs was the German Club. Perhaps this can be attributed to the presence of Heinrich Kelz and Wilhelm Funcke. Often after their dinners, the group shows slides or films or sings German folk songs. The high point of year was the German Carnival celebrated in February.

Career and Service

Kalamazoo College has incorporated into its four year program a career and service quarter. Most students take advantage of this opportunity for "on the job experience" in their sophomore year. The spring quarter of that year is spent working off-campus in a service organization or a paid position. The main purpose of this aspect of college is to expose the student to an occupation which is related to his field of major. In this way it helps the student determine whether or not his vocational choice is really suited to him.

New people are met and new questions present themselves. All these things tend to broaden the student and open his eyes to many aspects of the world which he had not noticed previously. Thus students are given the opportunity to grow and mature through the career and service quarter.

A wide variety of jobs is available. Students have worked in the huge New York Public Library and the offices of Congressmen in Washington, D.C. They have been placed in urban and rural areas. In any case they have learned something about themselves and about their world.

Looking toward the future . . .

Foreign Study

A trip down the Nile, attendance at a Spanish bull fight, coffee in a French cafe, friendly chatter in a German Stube, a visit to an African market: all of these unusual experiences are available to the student in his junior year at Kalamazoo College. Every student, according to his language ability and interest, has the opportunity to select a foreign Kalamazoo College center in which he would like to study. This year students have left the campus to study in England, France, Germany, Spain, Sierra Leone, Mexico, and Lebanon.

The foreign study quarters are probably the most popular quarters of K students' college experience for they offer opportunities of extensive language study, living with foreign families, introduction to new cultures, travel and time for independent thought. After approximately four and a half months of study in one center and country, the student has gained a good understanding of life in his adopted culture and is ready for some independent travel. While traveling the student expands his knowledge of cultures, peoples, arts, customs, currencies, and budgeting! In the spring the student returns to the campus with new perspective and understanding of the world, his country, his campus, and his life.

France

The French and France. Paris and the provinces. The masses of students on the left bank. The poetry of the Seine as Paris awakes to spring. The Loire and its wealth of chateaux. The rain in Normandy, the sunshine in Provence. A kaleidoscope of countryside and city, of accents, and faces, and out of it friendships maintained on paper and a hope for their renewal in person. This in France . . .

And this is France: The fun of sharing a Franco-American birthday party, of preparing an American meal for your family, or spending half a day fighting through a language barrier to discuss goals. These are the moments worth waiting for. Something deeper than the thrill of communication for the sake of exchanging polite artificialities, the excitement of coming to know the French girl or boy beside you.

Try asking some students just back from Germany what the word Gemutlichkeit means. They are apt to give you puzzled looks and mention seemingly unrelated experiences: talking with students in a Bierstube in Erlangen . . . sitting down with a German family to enjoy a meal of sausage, sauer-kraut and potatoes . . . taking a walk with friends along the Rhine in Bonn.

Or ask them about travel: visiting the Oktoberfest in Munich... seeing the cathedral in Cologne by night... pondering a grey Wall in Berlin—from both sides.

All are episodes which they will not forget in a few weeks, months, or even years.

symbol of the Civil War. Holy Week Processions; people bowing to the saints; people, Spanish people, applauding the soldiers displaying proud military precision. Franco's Guardia Civil, with green capes, gold buttons, and black patent leather hats. Gypsies acrobating in the streets while Spaniards throw money to them from the six floors of buildings. The Alhambra, the Prado, the parks crowded with baby buggies and balloons, bullfights, Flamenco, sangria, mantillas, sidewalk cafes, Paella, flower carts, guitars . . . Revelation: "It is possible to understand and live in another culture!" Recollection: "A wonderful memory of Spain."

Where else would I have the chance for independent research like this?

Independent Study

Independent study is an underlying theme of the entire four year program at Kalamazoo. With the new system only three courses are taken per quarter, and the student is expected to do a great deal of work in depth, on his own, in these three areas.

This idea is carried to its fullest application in the student's senior year. Each student, by this time, has chosen a major. From this general area he choses a specific topic in which he has become interested. The basic assignment for his senior year is to write a thesis on this subejet.

Education majors use these quarters to gain student teaching experience, using this as a basis for their thesis. Other students study at colleges and universities which offer a greater opportunity for study in depth of the field of major than "K" College. In any case, the senior thesis is in many respects the culmination of four years of work and represents the supreme academic effort of most undergraduate students.

The subject matter of these papers varies from the kinescis of Mexican Spanish to the marine life on a coral reef: for this program is as flexible as the rest of the curriculum at Kalamazoo College.

Early hopes to extend Kalamazoo's 12 game winning streak were snapped this year in the season opener with Eastern Michigan, but the team went on to take a share in the MIAA league title and post a 6-2 over-all record.

The Hornets, Albion, and Hope shared the conference title with identical 4-1 records. Each team was defeated by one of the others, K losing to Albion, Hope to K, and Albion to Hope.

Coach Rolla Anderson called the year a success, and at the same time expressed optimism over next year. With 15 lettermen returning and a number of valuable seniors gone, the success or failure of next year may well hinge on the depth available from entering freshmen.

Senior Ed Lauermann led the MIAA once again in rushing and led Kazoo in team scoring at the same time. John Persons and Eglis Lode tied for second in team scoring. Aggressive defense was a team highlight, demonstrated by a 98 yard touchdown run by tackle Bob Phillips on a pass interception against Earlham.

To cap another fine season, every team member saw plenty of action as the Hornets used everybody to roll over Kenyon, 71-20.

Harkema fades under good protection.

A nucleus of graduating seniors will be missed by Kalamazoo next year. In the last two and a half years, the football team with this nucleus has won 18 out of its last 20 games. Commenting on this group, Coach Anderson acclaimed, "Give those boys credit. They have made a great contribution to the school in all sports. Boys like Reuer, Persons, Harkema, Lauermann, and Hayward are just some of these invaluable players."

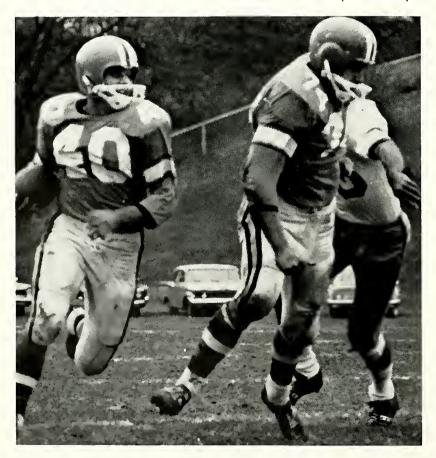

"John Persons," Rolla continued, "may have seven All-MIAA awards to his credit when he graduates—a K record from perhaps the best athlete ever to come out of this school."

Awards went to Persons, Phillips, Peters, Lode, and Lauermann for All-MIAA; Persons and Lauermann, All-State for the second year; Lauermann, most valuable player; Gus Kountoupes, most improved. The Gas Can Award again went to Persons. Elected as co-captains for the 1964 squad were Bob Phillips and Eglis Lode.

The 1963 Cross Country team started practice in September, establishing a training camp on Lake Otsego. This group consisted of four freshmen and three upperclassmen, who spent a week and a half preparing for the approaching season.

The Hornet striders, led by freshman Tom Hoopengardner and captain Dick Yehle, most valuable player, lacked sufficient depth needed for the high conference finish of past years. Homecoming weekend brought a season high point as Kazoo edged a determined Olivet seven.

Next year, returning lettermen abroad and strong frosh will bolster the team. The squad will repeat the pre-season conditioning program of the 1961 team by running a marathon from Mackinac to Kazoo.

Wrestling

Feeling the loss of Coach George Acker, the 1964 wrestlers posted a disappointing I-6-I dual meet record, but look forward to next year for the best season ever.

Seven freshmen and one upperclassman posted good overall individual records, but lack of college experience, coupled with the illness of Coach Acker, led to the season mark. During Acker's absence, the team was ably coached by Dick Rohlfs, a former W.M.U. wrestler.

With the return of three team members from Europe, plus next year's sophs, the team will be by far the toughest yet.

Kazoo posted a respectable tournament record, with a second in its own Quadrangular meet behind Ohio Wesleyan, and a third in the North Central Invitational in a field of 13.

Basketball

Picked to have a poor season, the 1964 Hornet basketball team proved to be tougher than expected. An II-II season mark, in which 8 of the losses were by less than 5 points frustrated the team consistently.

Coach Ray Steffen called the team one of the best and hardest-working he has ever coached, adding that they showed good spirit and hustle all year.

Statistically the team had a successful year. Placing third in the MIAA, Kazoo outscored their opponents over-all by 39 points, the difference coming in free throws, where they hit .719. From the floor, the team sank a respectable 43%. Captain and Most Valuable Player Dick Johnson, with Jim Peters and Bob Pursel, led the team scoring, with 276, 409, and 302 points respectively.

Gone next year will be senior starters Jim Harkema and Dale Southworth, and Dick Johnson, who will be in Europe. Replacing them will be Tom Crawford, Harry Decker, and Bill Jones. Also returning will be Most Improved Player Tom Nicolai and Peters and Pursel.

Baseball

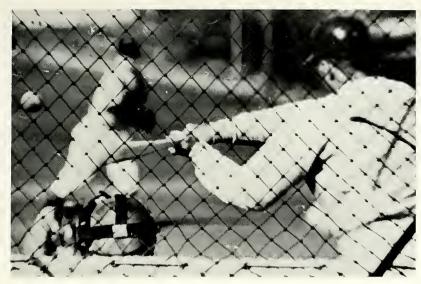

Coach Ray Steffen was very optimistic about the success of the 1964 baseball team after its good showing on the spring trip. Although posting a 2-4 record in the South, it was the team's first venture outdoors, and Coach Steffen was pleased with the showing. He felt the year could be K's best so far in the league, depending on the over-all strength of the MIAA. All teams found their way south except Adrian, and the teams to beat will be last year's co-champions, Albion and Hope.

Returning lettermen Jim Anderson, Tom DeVries, Don LeDuc, Eglis Lode, Dave Murray, John Persons, Fred Reuer, and Denny Stover are among upperclassmen to watch. Jim Jackson, a freshman, led the team hitting in the south with a .394 average and bears watching at third. Freshman pitchers Ray Sharp and Harry Decker also look good. All three freshmen will probably both pitch and play the infield. Future years may continue this year's good prospects.

Track

The 1964 track team suffered losses in the grade-point average of several potential men and as a consequence was left shaky in the field events. The team is potentially strong on the track, with veterans Bill Lynch, the Bekofskes, Dehn Solomon, Dave Filkin, Dick Payne, and Tom Schaaf backed by freshmen Tom Hoopengardner and George Lindenberg, and others.

Calvin is the team to beat, with the MIAA looking strong. Kazoo will bear watching although odds discourage Hornet high hopes.

Broad jumper and pole vaulter Calhoun . . .

Kazoo's Filkin, Bekofske, and Solomon

Tennis

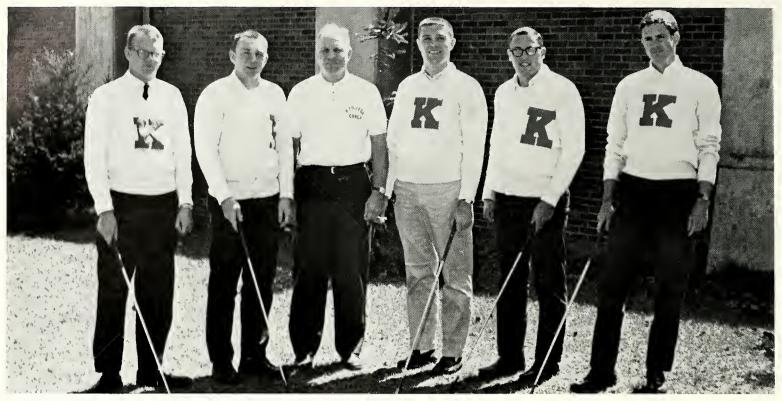

Kazoo's 1964 tennis team seems headed once again for the MIAA Tennis crown, with the only foreseen competition to come from Hope. The team is looking forward to their meets with Notre Dame and the Quadrangular meet where they will play the NCAA Small College tennis champs, Ohio Wesleyan. Dick Johnson and George Smillie occupy the first and second team spots, with the other positions uncertain in preseason drills.

Les Dodson, a Kalamazoo tennis alumnus, helps the team this year due to Mr. Acker's recovery from illness.

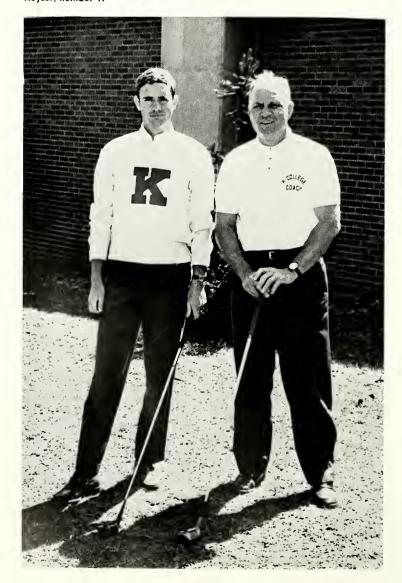

Walters . . .

Keyser, number 1.

Golf

Coach Rolla Anderson's golf team seems sure of at least a share of their present MIAA title again this year.

With returning veterans Bob Keyser, Tom Hayward, and Tony Jonassen filling the first three team positions, backed by Howie Green, Tom VanderMolen, Al Heath, and Jim Harkema, overall team strength is high. A successful southern trip highlighted spring training.

Probable team medalist Bob Keyser, according to Coach Anderson, has a good chance of being medalist for the MIAA.

Hayward, number 2.

Intermurals

Volleyball and cross country . . .

With the intermural season coming to a close in the spring, sharp competition would determine the final winner. The winter quarter closed with the Philos ahead of Centurys by 12 points, and Sherwoods, North, South, and Independents less than 10 points from second. The faculty posted another first in volleyball; Century again in football and both basketball leagues. Sherwoods showed strength in badminton and ping-pong, tying with faculty in the latter and winning the former. Philo strength came from close to top finishes in all sports. Softball, golf, tennis, and track finish the season.

Lu Williams, Liqa Abolins, Jeanne Williams, Sharon Young, Mary Brown, Judy Kirk, Aniko Bikfalvy, Kathy Bina, Bobbie Kelley, Kisti Heerens, Jeanne Tiller.

The Kalamazoo Hornettes made a big buzz on the hockey field this season. Competing against potentially overpowering foes, the girls showed their spunk by compiling a 3-3-4 record.

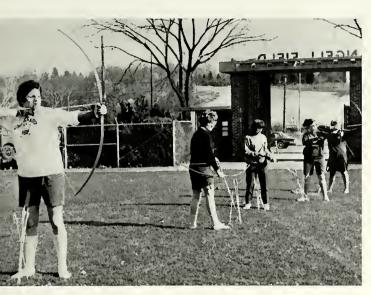

The team looked strong defeating Western, Central II, and Michigan, and tying State, Michigan, and Ann Arbor III. To climax the season the girls were invited to compete in the Great Lakes Sectional Tournament in Ann Arbor. Playing fine games, the girls beat U. of M. 2-0 and tied Ann Arbor III, 2-2.

Last summer two team members, Sue Dasher and Sue Hammer, were privileged to play on the Michigan All-Star team against a German team which toured the country.

Sue Budlong, Anne Crotser, Susan Talbot, Tina Roose, Sue Hammer, Lynn Eddy Judy Coon, Sue Dasher, Karla Lutz, Betsy Preston, Linda Swalm.

Women's Sports

Joan VanDeusen, Ruth Hirrschoff, Betsy Meade, Kay Seaman, Fran Meyer.

Kalamazoo's Women's Tennis team will have its hands full this year if it expects to repeat its fine 6-2 record from last year. With three top players lost to the quarter system and only three returning from last year, prospects are rough for the Hornettes.

Returning players are Sue Diller, Anne Crotser and Gretchen Vander Linde. This core plus the newcomers will hope to retain the Women's MIAA Tennis championship for the ninth straight year.

The archery team will center around Joan VanDeusen and Betsy Meade, from last year's team. The squad was runner-up in the WMIAA tournament last year.

The Girls' Basketball team finished the year with a 3-2 record, with Sue Dasher leading team scoring and statistics.

GIRLS TENNIS. Anne Crotser, Mary Westerville, Betty Powell, Gretchen VanderLinde, Nancy Southard, Sally Meyer, Sue Diller, Margie Connable.

BASKETBALL, A TEAM. Joan VanDeusen, Jean Tiller, Chris Geist, Karıa Lutz, Sue Dasher, Nancy Southard, Beth Christenson.

The three years and nine months between 15 September 1960 and 14 June 1964 were, for the members of the Class of 1964, their college years—a final stage of youth, a last preparation to face the cruel world, a "higher education." Those who open this yearbook in 1974 or 1984 or 1994 won't sum it up in a phrase. They will remember those three years and nine months in one big impression—"what did it do for me?"—plus a series of smaller impressions—mental snapshots of the things that stood out.

The impressions of learning will be there, and some will come back clearly enough. The gloomy hour in the early morning struggling with a problem that won't solve. The panicky rush to throw together a term paper, wondering ironically if this is what learning is. The discussion group where something clicks and Leibniz, Faulkner, Niebuhr change from words on a page to part of the furniture of a mind.

Some of the pictures will be those of the College—an institution going somewhere, but in its own sweet time. The stuffy Georgian architecture that seemed to shelter and embody outworn traditions. The quarter-system grid chart tacked to a wall, symbol of a vision that laughs at traditions. The battered, slow Groote Beer carrying the Class of 1964 into a new kind of overseas study.

Maybe the clearest of the mental images that flash back will be those of people. The instructors who, living to teach, made one want for a moment to live to learn. The little group around the snack bar table, suddenly serious, the discussion changed from girls to God. The larger group around the switchboard on a gray November day, listening to the grim radio voice: "Ladies and gentlemen, the President is dead."

And how about the big impression, the total picture that all these images make up? Or to put it a different way, what was in it for us? Book learning? Yes. Travel, culture, leadership, social life? Certainly. But for most there will be an impression of something more that will make the value of those four years impossible to measure in money. Maybe it was enlightenment, a realization that all these books have something important to say. Or conviction, a sense of purpose suddenly taking over a self-centered and self-satisfied mind. Something more than book learning happened to every member of this Class of 1964. It was different in every case, and always indefinite and indefinable. But for every one there will be something that will light up these three years and nine months and make them enlighten all the less youthful and less hopeful years that follow them.

Juniors

For six months this year, Juniors "pursued their studies" in various countries of the world: Caen and Aix-en-Provence, France; Madrid, Spain; Muenster, Erlangen, and Bonn, Germany; Sierra Leone, Africa; and Beirut, Lebanon. Perspective is perhaps the key word to their experiences—varied as they were.

Living in another culture gave them the chance not only to understand attitudes within that culture, but also to understand better the United States and its position in the world.

Victory

TAKES A LOT OF PREPARATION

Kalamazoo College's championship football team this year was the result of a lot of preparation by both coaches and players. But football is only one of the many contests in life that requires great preparation if victory is to be attained. The completion of your college education is a victory in itself . . . and the reward is a passport that can lead to the career of your choice.

When buying a Diamond...

WHAT IS MEANT BY "CLARITY"?

In diamond grading CLARITY refers to the presence or absence of flaws and blemishes. A diamond can be termed "flawless" only when no flaws are visible to a trained eye under 10-times magnification.

There is a "common sense" way to select your diamond-rely on the facts. Let us show you the overall picture of diamond value and quality. Take advantage of our vast gemological knowledge and experience. You'll find this is the wise way to select the diamond you'll be proud to give or own.

MEMBER AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY

WHAT IS MEANT BY "COLOR"?

When you find crystal-clear absence of any color in the body of a diamond it is usually of the finest quality. This is interior color, not the flashes of rainbow colors called "fire." In general, the closer a diamond approaches the absolute absence of any color, the higher it is evaluated.

WHAT IS MEANT BY "CUTTING"?

Gem cutting is a great art. Because a correctly cut and polished diamond has great refractory powers, it concentrates light and radiates an intense, flashing fire. The slightest variation from the ideal cutting of a diamond's tiny facets results in a reduction of this fire and brilliancy—and a lesser value for the finished diamond.

Fethke, Bill

Fischer, Glen Fish, Elaine From the sudden inspiration for a cover and a theme to the long drawn out art of layouts and developing-

Our horizons have been limited to it,

expanded by it:

Our thoughts confined to it,

amplified by it;

Our work made real for it, inspired by it.

And now we have finished We have given it form and substance. In retrospect we are pleased,

Happy to have had a part in it.
